LOCAL OFFICE HAS COMPLETED COUNT

Total of 3,764 Parcel Post Packages Were Handled During First Fifteen Days of April.

2,904 WERE RECEIVED HERE

City Carriers Delivered 1,800 Packages and 584 Were Called for at the Office.

The count of the parcel post business at the local post office for the first fifteen days of April has been completed and shows that a total of 3,764 packages were handled during that time. The business was not unusually heavy the first part of this month and the figures give an idea of the popularity of the parcel post service and the general use that is made of it. The count was made at the request of the post office department and a report will probably be published from Washington soon.

While the count was in progress a total of 864 packages were mailed at the Seymour office. According to the figures of the local office 2,904 packages were received for delivery. These of course came from all parts of the United States but the greater number were mailed in the first, second and third zones. The table shows that 584 packages were delivered from the office, 1,800 were distributed by the city carriers and 472 by the rural mail carriers.

The figures indicate that the parcel post department is more popular in the city than in the rural districts as the smallest number of packages were delivered by the rural carriers. More were distributed at the office than were taken out by the rural carriers.

The parcel post business has been steadily growing in the local office and the indications are that the business will be heavier in the future. Because of new regulations which are now effective the department is endeavoring to make the parcel post service as convenient as possible for delivering country produce from the farm to the consumer in the city. The weight limit has been increased to fifty pounds for the first zone since the service was inaugurated and this admits packages which could not be sent by parcel post before the new regulation became effective. It is understood that other provisions are to be made by the department within a short time which will be convenient for patrons of the post office who desire to send packages by that service.

Another count more exhaustive than the one just completed is now in progress at the local office and will not be completed until the 15th of next month. This count will include all mail delivered on and received from the rural routes, while the count just completed was of parcel post business only. The post office department gave no reason why the new count was ordered but it is generally believed that some new regulations are being considered and the post office officials desire to find out to what extent the farmers are making use of the service.

POLICE TRY TO LOCATE STOLEN HORSE AND BUGGY

Taken From Hitchrack on Ewing Street About 8 O'clock Friday Night.

A horse and buggy belonging to Louis Fox, of Reddington, were stolen Friday night and sheriffs and liverymen in this vicinity have been asked to keep watch for them. Mr. Fox tied the horse at the hitchrack at the corner of Second and Ewing street at 7:30 o'clock and it was gone when he returned about 10 o'clock. The police have found that the horse was stolen within an hour after it was left there.

The horse is a bay and is about four years old. The buggy had rubber tires, cherry stained color with light running gears. It was thought at first that the horse might have broken loose and returned home but no trace of the stolen rig was found today. Livery men have been informed of the theft and the sheriffs of the surrounding counties have also been given notice and asked to watch for any one who might attempt to sell a horse or buggy of this description. The police have been unable to find anyone who saw the horse driven away.

EXAMINATION IS HELD FOR FOURTH CLASS POSTMASTERS

Applicants for These Offices Are Now Appointed Under Civil Service Regulations.

About thirty applicants for positions as fourth class postmasters in Jackson county took the civil service examination which was held at the Shields high school building today. The examination was conducted under the direction of Albert Charles, secretary of the local civil service board, and W. G. Geile, a city carrier, who is a member of the board.

Under a recent ruling of the department fourth class postmasters are placed under the civil service regulations. Appointments will be made at several of the smaller offices in the county shortly after the papers have been corrected. The postmaster at Freetown was not required to take this examination as that office was recently supplied. A number of applicants from Medora, Valonia, Ewing and other places in the county were here for the examination.

One Boy Captured But Released Before He Is Tied With a Rope.

There was a small display of class spirit around the high school building last night while the Freshmen were assembled for their class party which was held at the gymnasium. Some of the Sophomores congregated on the opposite corner and endeavored to capture some of the Freshmen to prevent them from attending the party.

One of the lower classmen was caught by the Sophomores who started to tie him with a rope. He was given assistance however by one of the residents who saw the performance and the interference seemed to dampen the spirits of the Sophomores and very little attempt was made to hold any of the other Freshmen. It is reported that the Sophomores threatened to break up the class social but it was held as planned. No attempt was made to molest any of the Freshmen after they reached the high school grounds.

NEW MAIL SERVICE TO BE PERMANENT

Special I. C. & S. Traction Car Makes Trip to Indianapolis in Less Than Two Hours.

TRIAL WAS SATISFACTORY

Average of From 500 to 700 Pounds of Mail Handled Daily—9,000 Pounds on Sundays.

After a thorough trial the new interurban mail service between this city and Indianapolis over the I. C. & S. Traction Line has proven satisfactory and will be permanent. Arrangements were made the first of the month for the special car and the trip has been made each morning in less than two hours. The mail is received from the early westbound B. & O. train. The plan was adopted when the midnight trains between Cincinnati and Indianapolis on the C. H. & D. and Big Four Railroads were cancelled. The Cincinnati morning newspapers and all other mail under the first class reach Indianapolis about five hours earlier by this arrangement.

The Indianapolis, Columbus & Southern Traction Company agreed to place the mail in Indianapolis each morning before 7:30 o'clock unless the B. & O. train should be more than thirty minutes late. Only one morning since the new service has been inaugurated has the car reached Indianapolis later than 7:30 o'clock. On that morning the B. & O. train did not arrive here until about 6 o'clock.

On Sundays the mail is the heaviest because of the Cincinnati newspapers. On that day the total weight aggregates about nine thousand pounds and on other mornings the average weight is between five hundred and seven hundred pounds.

As yet no first class mail is being carried by the new service. It is said, however, that if the present satisfactory results are maintained lock pouches containing first class mail may be sent to Indianapolis over this route. The service was arranged primarily for the transportation of the Cincinnati newspapers. The mail is distributed at Indianapolis to other steam and traction roads for the north and eastern parts of the state.

Since the new service has been established there has been some talk of petitioning the postoffice department to permit Seymour mail to be carried on that car. It is pointed out that while such an arrangement might be made it would be of very little benefit as only a small amount of second class mail is posted after the departure of the late trains. Mail to Indianapolis is sent from Seymour over the Pennsylvania Lines at 9 o'clock and also over the B. & O. Southwestern at midnight. The latter mail is transferred at Mitchell.

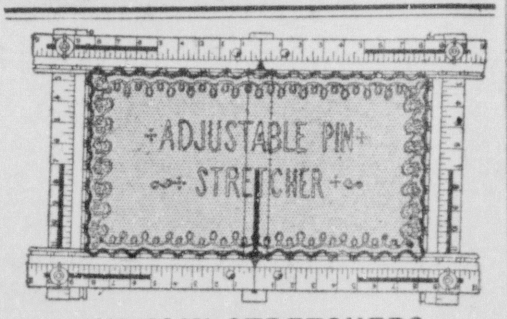

The new mail car is in charge of Louis Farrell, of Greenwood, motorman, and Hugh Hill, also of Greenwood, conductor. The car is brought here from Columbus after the regular schedule is completed and the members of the crew spend the night here. The trip is one of the fastest of any interurban road in Indiana.

Senator Miles Poindexter Declares He Will be Named Again as Presidential Candidate.

Bulletin.

By United Press.
Indianapolis, April 18.—The Progressive convention unanimously adopted report of resolution committee calling for referendum on state wide prohibition and on federal amendment for national prohibition.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, April 18.—Progressives at the state convention this afternoon were cheered by the oratory of Raymond Robbins, of Chicago, who declared that the two old parties were corrupt and divided within themselves and predicted a glowing future for the Progressive party. Robbins said that Indiana was corrupt in politics, and that the state was ruled by bosses, not in office, but more powerful than the—titular heads of the party.

"Who is Indiana's most powerful Democrat?" he asked. "Is it Governor Ralston at the executive mansion, or Senator Kern, or Vice President Marshall? You wouldn't waste a minute on these men if you were really wise. You would say 'Robbins, come with me to French Lick Springs where there is the second largest gambling house in the nation,' and there we would sit down with Thomas Taggart, the most powerful democrat in the State of Indiana. And he holds no public office and owes no responsibility to the people of Indiana, yet he is the master of the Democratic officials of this state."

Robbins declared that a machine ruled in Indianapolis. "In the north in every great city where Democrats are in control a powerful machine composed of those who war against the better interests of the nation are at home. Look about you in Indianapolis and find the saloon is keeping open over hours, and I will show you a saloon that is paying tribute to and owes protection to the local Democratic machine."

Robbins then declared that "because of these machines in control," the Democratic party could not be looked to for progress in reform. He said that "one progressive leader does not change the character of a party."

Striking at the Republican party he asked whether it could "come back." "It is facing a split in its own ranks," he said. "Who are standing on the ship trying to save it from going down? Berch, LaFollette, Cummins, Bristow, hand in hand with Guggenheim, Crane, Barnes, Penrose. The moment that ship reaches port those men will start fighting. The real fact is that when the Republican party does declare its principles it will be split in twain."

Senator Miles Poindexter created much enthusiasm when he named Secretary Bryan and J. C. Tumuly Make Quick Trip to Links in Automobile.

By United Press.

Washington, April 18.—After receiving a message from Charge O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City today Secretary Bryan and J. C. Tumuly, President's private secretary, rushed to the Virginia golf course to find President Wilson. It is reported that the dispatch contained information about another quibble by Huerta concerning the negotiations in the Tampico incident.

It is reported that the administration will demand immediate and positive answer from Huerta as to whether or not he will fire the salute to the American flag according to the plan suggested.

WILSON MAY ASK AUTHORITY TO BLOCKADE MEXICAN PORTS

President Says Huerta Insists Upon Doing Something Less Than This Government Demands.

By United Press.

Washington, April 18.—President Wilson issued an ultimatum to General Huerta this afternoon that unless Huerta agreed definitely to salute the American flag before six o'clock Sunday night he would go before congress with a message. This announcement means that President Wilson would ask congress for the authority to blockade all the Mexican ports.

In a statement regarding the J. C. Tumulty, private secretary to President Wilson said: "General Huerta is still insisting upon doing something less than has been demanded and something less than would constitute an acknowledgement that his representatives were entirely in the wrong in the indignities they have put upon the government of the United States. The President has determined that if General Huerta has not yielded by six o'clock Sunday afternoon he will take the matter to congress."

President Wilson has already stated that if he goes before congress it will be to ask for the army and navy to use against Mexico.

"UNRESPONSIVE" WAS HUERTA'S REPLY TO U. S.

More Quibbling Over Terms According to Code Messages from O'Shaughnessy.

Washington, April 18.—Huerta's reply to the latest representations of the United States was described by officials today as "unresponsive." As Charge O'Shaughnessy's dispatches were being deciphered, it became known that there was more quibbling over terms.

Secretary Bryan took the latest dispatches to the White House to lay them before President Wilson, who again canceled his plans to go White Sulphur Springs for the week-end. It was known that Huerta was making another effort to string out the negotiations.

It is admitted that the President already possesses this power, but he intends that in every move made in this situation, it shall be demonstrated that the legislative branches are in complete accord. It is expected that the congress will act immediately, and that within an hour a wireless message flashed from the big towers

PROBLEM NOW A COLLEGE STUDY.
It is stated that less than two per cent. of the men of America go through college, yet from this two per cent. the nation draws 7,700 of its 10,000 leaders in all walks of life. "The destroyer," Captain Hobson points out, "has had a strong hold upon our colleges, particularly upon the large universities, and its grip must be broken at any cost." That this grip is being broken is evidenced by the fact that 2,500 students in 100 colleges and universities have already studied the liquor problem in classes during the first half of the present school year, and the total number of such students will probably reach 5,000 during the year. Of these colleges, between 30 and 40 have given the course curriculum standing, with credit toward a degree, and many of the others are considering the same step for next year.

DANGER FROM ALCOHOL.

In pneumonia or in snake bite, when recovery takes place, an invasion of the parts affected by a large number of leucocytes or white blood corpuscles is invariably observed. DeCarde insists that this invasion is essential to recovery. Massert and Borden demonstrated that alcohol, even in very dilute solution, drives away the white corpuscles or leucocytes, and if alcohol is circulated in the blood, even in very minute quantities, the leucocytes cannot push their way into the blood at all readily, and therefore cannot be transported to the seat of the disease. Alcohol thus prevents the white cells or leucocytes from coming up to attack and repel the invading organisms. . . . The leucocytes act as a kind of sanitary police. They appear wherever dead matter is to be removed, they attempt to prevent the invasion of the body by disease producing organisms, and once they come to grips with their opponents they die rather than give way. . . . Disease producing organisms getting into the tissues during the time that alcohol is holding back the leucocytes, and meeting with no resistance from them, entrench themselves strongly, so that the leucocytes cannot drive them out, and a severe, often fatal, attack of disease is the result.—Dr. Sims Woodhead, Cambridge University, England.

WATER-WAGON VS. PATROL.

A short time ago the 86 saloons in the city of Des Moines, Iowa, were temporarily closed on a technicality by order of the state supreme court. The figures of the police department for the first seven days thereafter were, stated a press dispatch from the saloonless city, "convincing in their proof that you can't run a successful and prosperous patrol wagon and lock up business in a dry town." Comparison of these seven days with the last seven days with saloons showed:

UNDER BAN OF STATE LAW.

(By REV. JESSE HILL, Portland, Me.)
Every drop of liquor that is distilled or brewed is held by the great careful central government to be contraband and confiscated property, for a time. Not one barrel of it can be taken from its place of manufacture till the national stamp "U. S." (that always means us) is placed upon it. We may not be able to stop the complicity of the federal government with the traffic, but there is one thing we can do. We can answer the question for ourselves: Is the moral character of the state or city a thing worth contending for? Shall we treat it as a commodity which we can sell in our streets and alleys for three or five hundred dollars a year? If you hunt for it, you can sometimes find liquor in the prohibition territory, but that is quite a different proposition from giving the business an opportunity to hunt for you. Put the thing under the ban of the law and you have stigmatized it. . . . Let the saloon wear its own badge of shame. License is a compromise. It is wrong in principle and wicked in practice. For the state to go into partnership with the manufacturers of criminals is for the state to commit suicide.

HUERTA NOW PLAYING WITH UNITED STATES

This Is Opinion Expressed By Some Congressmen.

Ey Paso, April 18.—Constitutionalist authorities in Juarez regarded the Tampico incident as being favorable to their cause in all its phases.

Washington, April 18.—Huerta's demand that the United States join with Mexico in firing a simultaneous salute of twenty-one guns aroused the strongest feeling in congress against the Mexican dictator that has yet been shown. Many senators and representatives were convinced that Huerta was playing with the United States in an effort to make it appear ridiculous, and many statements were heard in favor of immediate drastic action on the part of this government.

Some members of congress were inclined to believe the reports that Huerta is working solely with a view to uniting the Mexican people behind him in a common cause against the United States.

"The danger of this trifling with a delicate situation is that it will make trouble on the border," said Senator Fall of New Mexico. "Things are in an inflammable condition there and trouble may start on the border at any time."

Senator Lodge expressed the fear that before the incident was closed the United States would be asked to salute first.

"Mexico will salute the way we want it to, or there will be war," was the way Senator Shively of Indiana, acting chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, put it.

Senator Sutherland, a Republican member of the foreign relations committee, declared that Huerta's proposition was preposterous.

"There can be no apology if the person required to apologize may elect to dictate the terms," said he.

HOW LIFE INSURANCE RISKS ARE FIGURED

Slender Women Are Better Risk Than Stout Women, According to Records.

By United Press

San Francisco, April 18—According to the records of the big life insurance companies of the country, slender women are better risks than stout women and single women live longer than their married sisters. "A woman who is 30 pounds under weight" said George H. Beaudry of a coast life insurance company, "is 18 per cent better risk than a woman who is 30 pounds over weight. Mortality among women who are 30 pounds under weight is only 94 per cent whereas among women over-weight the mortality is 112 per cent.

"The spinster's chances for long life are 50 per cent better than those of her married sisters. Out of 145,000 single women insuring the mortality rate was only 81 per cent, while among the women insuring with their husbands as beneficiaries the percentage was 126 per cent. The married women have not even chances with the married man, at least in the first few years of married life. The percentages among the men increase with age. For the first two years of insurance women have a high mortality rate, whether they be married or single, and this fact the companies attribute to a premonition which women are declared to possess. The insurance people call this instinct and they say women feel possibilities of death so keenly that often the companies lose during the first two years of policy holding.

"Two per cent of all the policies the companies grant to suicide, and the figures relating to women's suicides throws an interesting light on the facts. Death from self-inflicted causes among spinsters total only six-tenths of one per cent, while among married women the percentage is less than one-tenth higher. The companies make a distinction, however, among the married women. Between the 'happily married' class, or women whose insurance is drawn in favor of their husbands, and the single women there is almost no difference.

The women whose beneficiaries are people other than their husbands show one and one-tenth per cent, while among the widows and divorced women the percentage from suicide climbs to 1.7."

IN THIS INSTANCE THE GUIMPE BECOMES A BLOUSE.

Overblouse effects are very popular and no doubt will continue to gain in favor as the season advances. Whereas, in many cases, the overblouse is merely a pair of straps over the shoulders, yet it gives the appearance of a one-piece frock and at the same time suggests a way to bring an old frock up to date. The filmy, transparent fabrics—net, lace, chiffon, etc.—are used for the underbodice; organza and book muslin are being used also with some of the more tailored frocks.

No. 8196-8197 shows a smart overblouse costume; the skirt is a three-piece model with a slightly raised waistline and the fullness at the top arranged in soft box-pleats. Tete de Negre ratine is the material with the underbodice of shadow lace over a velvet.

ENCAMPMENT PLANS OF G. A. R. ANNOUNCED

Department Commander Issues Program for Annual State Gathering Business Sessions Open May 7.

Judge D. Comstock, commander of the Indiana Department, G. A. R., has issued a general order for the state encampment at Indianapolis May 6, 7 and 8. Headquarters for the Women's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R. will be at the Denison Hotel, while business sessions will be held at Tomlinson Hall.

The Women's Relief Corps, instead of presenting a silk flag to a high school of the city where the encampment is held, will this year give a Lincoln memorial tablet in bronze to be placed in the State House—Washington Gardner of Michigan, national commander of the G. A. R., will make the presentation speech May 6.

The open meeting will be held May 6 and its auxiliaries, with Charles Bookwalter presiding. Addresses of welcome will be made as follows: "Welcome to Honored Guests," Commander Martin of Ben Harrison Camp No. 356, Sons of Veterans, Indianapolis; "Welcome to Our City," Mayor Joseph E. Bell, Indianapolis; "Greetings," Governor Samuel M. Ralston. Responses will be made by Daniel W. Comstock, department commander, and William M. Hansche of Richmond, division commander, Sons of Veterans.

The opening business session, May 7, will be held at Tomlinson Hall at 9 a. m. The parade will take place at 2 p. m. and will be in charge of Col. Frank Shellhouse. At 5 p. m., May 7, a reception will be given by the Indiana Division of the Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary at the Severin Hotel. At 8 p. m. a campfire will be held at Tomlinson Hall. On Friday the election of officers for the ensuing year will take place.

Woman's Home Companion.

Two very important articles in the May Woman's Home Companion present many important facts about the care of children that will both interest and help mothers. One is entitled "The Safeguarding of the Child," by Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the Children's Bureau in the Department of Labor of the United States, and the other is entitled "Good Teeth and Vision for Your Baby," by Dr. S. Josephine Baker, director of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the Department of Health in New York City.

Splendid fiction is contributed by Alice Brown, Sophie Kerr Underwood, Molly Elliot Seawell, Georgia Wood Pangborn and Anna McClure Sholl. Special art and music features are contributed by John Rae, Walter Jack Duncan, Bliss Carman and Louis Ayres Garnett.

The regular Fashion, Cooking, Young People's, and Home Decoration and Handicraft departments are filled with good reading and beautiful illustrations.

CONVENTION OF NATIONAL OLD TRAILS ROAD ASSOCIATION

Meeting at Indianapolis Promises to be Important Event in Good Roads Movement.

The third annual convention of the National Old Trails Road Association to be held in Indianapolis, Ind., May 7, 8, and 9 promises to be the most important event in the history of the good roads movement and according to the most conservative estimate, five thousand delegates will attend.

Invitations to attend have been extended to the local commercial clubs and business men's organizations of Indiana, so that every city and town of the state will be doubly represented. The president and secretaries of these bodies have been especially invited.

The meetings will be presided over by Judge J. M. Lowe of Kansas City, president of the Association and a veteran better roads booster of national reputation. The governor of Indiana is to make the address of welcome.

Among the more prominent speakers will be several United States senators and congressmen who are friends and ardent supporters of the Association and who will tell of their efforts to procure legislation looking toward a national system of efficient highways.

President Lowe is inviting the entire membership to attend and is urging local associations, affiliated with the Old Trails, to send as many delegates as possible. Some of the more remote organizations, no doubt, will be unable to attend in a body, so President Lowe is suggesting to them that one or more of the leading boosters be sent at the expense of the rest.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Claypool hotel. Every day of the convention will be spent in putting the organization on a better footing to fight for the larger system which means 50,000 miles of macadam or rock highways serving sixty-six per cent of the population of the United States.

The subjects to be discussed not only will include matters pertaining to the Old Pike but also to general road questions.

Mercedes Again Jumps Into Limelight

With Ralph Mulford, shown above at the wheel, and Ralph De Palma, seen in the insert, as drivers, the Mercedes cars in the next five-hundred-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway loom up as strong public favorites. These machines can always be depended on for a hard battle, that of De Palma in 1912, when he led the entire Indianapolis field for more than 490 miles, only to lose out at the finish, being memorable. Mulford and the hard luck Italian will make a grand team.

ARE you going to have a 1914 Buick?

No matter how much you can afford to pay, we honestly believe that there is no other line that assures you the worth of your money the way a Buick does.

The Buick develops more power than other cars because of its overhead valve motor. It was Buick power that sent a motor car across the Andes mountains for the first time in history. Other American cars tried and failed. Foreign cars tried it and failed. But the Buick pulled its way across.

Confidence in your car is the backbone of the enjoyment you take in it. Whether for business or pleasure, the car that can be depended upon to take you anywhere you want to go and bring you back again is the car you like the best. Being held up along the road or in the garage is expensive. The Buick is a dependable and an economical car, and it has the appearance that makes the people you pass take that second look. And it rides easy.

No matter what kind of car you want, you'll find it in the Buick line.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Municipal ownership of public utilities may appear to be right in theory but the experience of a number of cities has proven that it is not satisfactory in practice. Illustrations are seen in the electric plant at New Castle and the water system at Columbus. In both of these cities it has been necessary during the past few days to provide funds for expensive repairs as the machinery and equipment have been neglected. This expense must be borne by the citizens and if there is not sufficient money in the public treasury to pay it, bonds must be issued. When the final results are figured up for a ten or twenty-year period, the taxpayers will more than likely find that municipal plants are more expensive than those operated by private individuals.

The argument that is advanced in favor of municipal utilities is that the city should receive the profits which go to the stockholders when such utilities are owned by private corporations. This theory has a very pleasant ring but in practice it has been found that the profits are very small and in the majority of cases additional funds must be raised to meet the annual deficits.

The reason why a city cannot run a public utility as cheaply as a private corporation is very apparent. A private corporation places its business in the hands of a competent superintendent or manager and each department is operated on an efficiency basis. The best results must be obtained from the least amount of money. If the superintendent is not able to do this, he is replaced by another who can.

When the utility is owned by the city, the superintendent is usually appointed because of policies or because of a "pull" with the official who has authority to make the appointment. The qualifications of the man are seldom seriously considered with the result that he has no knowledge of the business and makes no arrangements to take care of the repairs which must be made after the plant has been in operation for a few years. He knows that more than likely his position will be held by another when the repairs are needed and it will not be to his credit to ask for increased rates in order that a surplus may be laid aside for the work. This is exactly what is happening at New Castle and Columbus. If those plants had been in charge of private corporations, ample provisions would have been made and the chances are that a surplus would have been laid aside to take care of the increased maintenance expense of the future. Cities which do not have the burden of public utilities will do well to investigate the proposition fully before the plants are taken over.

Closing Day of School.

Friday the Reddington school taught by Mrs. Letta Orr and Miss Mary Brown held the closing exercises for the school year. About one hundred and fifty patrons with well filled dinner baskets arrived at noon and a bountiful dinner was served. In the afternoon the program consisting of recitations and songs was given and three trees were planted in observance of Arbor Day. This has been one of the best terms in the history of the school and the closing day proved an enjoyable occasion. Five pupils from the eighth grade taught by Miss Brown went to Walnut Grove today to take the examination for graduation from the public schools of the township.

Fred Hamann Dead.

Mrs. Herman Gerdum received a telegram this afternoon that her brother, Fred Hamann had died at Atchison, Kansas, this morning. Mr. Hamann was 38 years old. He had been in poor health for about two years with heart trouble. The telegram did not state however, whether this was the cause of his death. The funeral will be held Monday and the remains will be buried at Atchison. He leaves a wife in Kansas; two sisters, Mrs. Herman Gerdum and Mrs. John Mellenkamp near Tampico, a half brother, John Alfie, of Seymour, and a half sister, Mrs. B. F. Kobbe, near Columbus.

ROBBINS SCORED

DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Theodore Roosevelt as the next party candidate for president, advocated women suffrage as a progressive principle, condemned both the Republican and Democrat parties for their "reactionary tendencies" and pointed the Progressive party forward "to render a service to liberty and democracy." The Washington senator derided the Democratic administration on its stand against exemption of coast wise shipping from Panama canal tolls and declared for more centralized power for the national government that it might better control trusts and monopolies.

"The Progressive party is fortunate in having in its ranks and as its principal leader Theodore Roosevelt," said Poindexter. "He has the prestige of his record in the presidency. Upon their knowledge of him so gained, the people trust him as a powerful advocate of democracy. Should he be nominated by the Progressives—as he probably will be—for the presidency, he will have the support of the great men of the Republican party because they are Progressives."

Poindexter said the Progressives are "committed to the political liberation of women." "We believe that the solution of the social as well as the economic problems of our complex, modern life can be aided by their intelligence and virtue if given the ballot."

He said the people should not be willing to place in power again the Republican party, "because it has proved faithless to its trust." He charged that party with favoring private privilege, with opposition to woman suffrage, with favoring the "tyranny of private causes" and with unwillingness to use the full power of the federal government to restrain and destroy private monopoly.

Regarding the Panama tolls question Poindexter said the Democratic party had "surrendered the sovereignty of the most costly of American possessions to the whims and sordid interests of foreign countries and domestic railroad lines."

Albert J. Beveridge was greeted with an enthusiastic demonstration as he arose to make his address. The delegates from the Eighth district marched down the aisle amid cheering and waving of flags. Every other district followed. The uproar continued for sixteen minutes. His speech was not continued until after the noon hour.

The report of the committee on resolution was delayed because of the fight on the prohibition plank. The committee finally reported pledging party to give people earliest possible chance to vote directly on issue of state wide prohibition.

The resolutions favored the passage of the joint resolution before congress providing for the constitutional amendment prohibiting traffic in intoxicating liquors. It was recommended that this be submitted to various states for ratification. Home rule for cities and direct primaries were endorsed. The resolutions condemned the "watchful waiting policy of President Wilson in the Mexican situation."

Don't Sleep Well
No Good Reason
Just Can't Sleep

Some people can't sleep. There seems to be no special reason. They have no disease of the nervous system. Digestion is fairly good. Their habits are pretty good. They may smoke a little or drink a little, yet their habits are fair. Still they can't sleep well.

Just a little unbalanced in the nerve centers. That is all. They should have a little "righting up."

A tonic will generally do this. The right sort of a tonic. Peruna is exactly the tonic. Digestion is hurried by Peruna. The stomach is empty and ready to rest for the night. The circulation is equalized. The brain is relieved of all congestions and irritations.

The Peruna acts on every blood vessel in the system. It acts on all of the nerve centers. One begins to sleep and hardly knows why.

Take a teaspoonful to one tablespoonful of Peruna before each meal. Sometimes another tablespoonful at bedtime is necessary, where the sleeplessness is very pronounced.

Just try it, neighbor. You will be glad if you do. One bottle will convince you. Peruna is no sleep medicine. It is not a nerve. It contains no narcotics. It is nothing of that sort. It is simply a regulative tonic.

Every home should be provided with the last edition of the "Ills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

HUERTA HEARS AN ULTIMATUM

Mexico Must Salute According to Our Terms.

NO FURTHER DILLY DALLYING

Proposition on the Part of the Mexican Dictator to Have Us Fire Our Salute of Courteous Acknowledgment Simultaneously With His Apologetic Salute. Finally Has Aroused the Spunk of Uncle Sam.

Mexico City, April 18.—The government has not yet given out anything in regard to the matter of a salute to the American flag, and the situation seems to be unchanged.

Washington, April 18.—The confidence of the administration that the acute Mexican situation had cleared has been shattered, and the president and his advisers still are in grave doubt as to future developments.

The upsetting of the administration optimism was caused by the receipt of a new inquiry from Huerta which amounted to a stipulation by him, that the United States should agree to fire a salute to the Mexican flag simultaneously with the salute that he would render to the American colors by way of reparation for the Tampico insult. This inquiry was regarded by the Washington government as insolent and entirely out of accord with the spirit of the demand which the United States had made on account of the affront to the American flag and the American uniform.

As a result Huerta is in receipt of a reply from this government which is in effect an ultimatum. He has been given to understand in as forceful language as this government could properly employ that the reparation must be rendered for the Tampico insult by a salute of twenty-one guns in the exact manner originally demanded by Admiral Mayo and that this government will tolerate no further dallying.

It is therefore now up to Huerta to say whether he will order the salute of twenty-one guns or whether he will take the consequences. If he refuses, the Atlantic fleet, which is hurrying toward Tampico, will blockade and seize all the ports on the gulf coast, and the United States naval vessels on the Pacific coast will undertake a similar campaign in those waters. The president's plan now is exactly as it was before the renewal of negotiations by Huerta. The customs houses will be seized and held until such time as the Mexican government will render adequate satisfaction to the demands of the United States.

While these developments make the outlook for a peaceful settlement much less favorable, the president and his advisers still insist that they are encouraged in the hope that Huerta will yield.

In discussing the inquiry of Huerta as to a simultaneous salute, Secretary Daniels said he never heard of such a thing. It was indicated that officials of the navy department regarded the inquiry in the light of levity and not as a part of any serious discussions to be had concerning the reparation demanded by Admiral Mayo.

Secretary Daniels disclosed that the third division of the Atlantic fleet, including the Virginia, Connecticut and Ohio, now undergoing slight repairs in drydock, probably will go to Mexico April 26 or 27. The ships will not be overhauled until that time, he said, and so no order had been issued as to their movements yet. The transport Hancock, bearing 800 marines, which sailed from New Orleans on Wednesday, is now due off Tampico.

Secretary Daniels said that no additional ships of the Pacific fleet had been ordered to the west coast of Mexico, other than the seven ordered to reinforce Admiral Howard at Mazatlan, Acapulco and Topolobampo.

Secretary of War Garrison said that so far as the existing situation was concerned the army remained in statu quo. He denied a report that the department was seeking to buy ships in England for use as army transports.

INDIANA STATE CONVENTION

Hoosier Progressives Meet Today to Name a Ticket.

Indianapolis, April 18.—The state convention of the Progressive party of Indiana is in session at Tomlinson hall in this city today. The forenoon was taken up with oratory by Albert J. Beveridge, temporary chairman; Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, and Sumner Bird of Massachusetts, and the nominations are being made this afternoon.

Arrangements have been made for a meeting of the Progressive state committee to be held at the close of the convention for the election of a state chairman and a secretary of the state committee. Edwin M. Lee has announced that he will not accept reelection as state chairman, and it is said arrangements have been completed for the election of Ed C. Toner of Anderson as his successor. Harvey B. Stout, Jr., is a candidate for reelection as secretary of the state committee, and the candidates running for are Oswald Ryan of Anderson and W. E. Neal of Noblesville.

NEW YORK'S MAYOR TARGET FOR BULLET

Old Man With Fancied Grievance Uses a Gun.

New York, April 18.—With fancied grievances against the city administration, a shabbily dressed old man named Michael B. Mahoney fired one shot at Mayor John Purroy Mitchell as the mayor, Corporation Counsel Frank P. Polk, whom the bullet struck, Police Commissioner Arthur Woods and Tax Commissioner Mullin were on the point of starting off in an auto from the city hall.

The bullet entered the left cheek of Mr. Polk, knocked a tooth to the floor of the auto and came out of his right cheek. Powder from the revolver slightly burned the mayor's left ear and Commissioner Mullin's right cheek. The mouth wound received by Mr. Polk, although very painful, will not prove dangerous.

Police Commissioner Woods was, as he put it later, "just two short jumps" from Mahoney when the old man fired. Commissioner Woods made the jump in one, slammed Mahoney to the street and held tightly to his pistol hand, while the old man tried to fire again. Police immediately took charge of Mahoney, who stated that last Monday he went to the city hall to see the mayor and when told he could not see Mitchell without a ticket, the refusal made him "nearly crazy." Again he went to the city hall and this time, he told the police, he carried a revolver. "I saw the mayor and his secretary," said Mahoney, "come out at noon. But my thoughts against Mitchell softened and I did not shoot him then."

GOSSIP FROM THE CAPITAL

Bits of Washington News of Particular Interest to Hoosiers.

Washington, April 18.—Members of the Indiana delegation voted to abolish the "mileage grab" of 20 cents a mile for members to and from their homes and Washington. They rallied to the support of the Cox amendment to the legislative bill which provides that members and dependents of their families shall be paid actual expenses in traveling to and from the regular sessions of the congress. The action of the house in adopting the amendment by a vote of 237 to 95 is regarded as a victory for Representative Cox of Indiana, who has been tireless in his effort to do away with the time-honored "grab."

SINCERE REGRET PLAINLY VOICED

What Will Roosevelt Think About This?

OUR TREATY WITH COLOMBIA

The Government of the United States. According to Word From Bogota by Way of Paris, Expresses Sincere Regret For Anything That May Have Interrupted the Friendship Long Existing Between the Two Nations.

New York, April 18.—In the text of the treaty between the United States and Colombia, the word "regret" about which there has been so much controversy, appears, as made public through the Colombian legation in Paris and cabled to New York.

"The sincere regret" of the United States government as to the causes of the possible altered relations between the two countries is expressed in the first article of the treaty as published in the Paris Temps.

The treaty was signed in Bogota, April 7, by Thaddeus A. Thompson, United States minister, and Dr. Francisco Jose Urrutia, Colombian minister of foreign affairs, and the members of a Colombian advisory committee.

The first article of the treaty as published in the Paris Temps: "The government of the United States, desiring to put an end to all disputes and differences with the republic of Colombia occasioned by events which have brought about the present situation in the isthmus of Panama, in its name and in the name of the people of the United States, expresses sincere regret for anything that may have interrupted or altered the relations of cordial friendship existing long between the two nations."

"Colombia, in her name and in the name of the people of Colombia, accepts this declaration in the full assurance that in this way will disappear all obstacles to the restoration of complete harmony between the two countries."

It will be recalled that when news of the signing of the Colombian treaty reached this country there was some stir in Washington when it was reported that the United States had made apologies to Colombia in the treaty, for the partition of Panama.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

NO reader of this department need fear that purely theoretical farming is urged at the expense of practical methods. These articles are written for the benefit of established landowners as well as amateurs, and much commendation has come from experienced men who realize the shortcomings of ordinary farming.

For instance, while I urge the ability of growing fruit in localities which have the advantage of good markets, I should dislike to see farmers in the central states or anywhere else devote themselves to this single industry. That would be about as foolish as exclusive grain raising or dairying. The orchard belongs in a scheme of mixed farming, together with poultry and hogs.

Important facts for fruit growers are that orchard land may be made to pay double and the fertility of the soil maintained without extraordinary effort. While the trees are coming to maturity land earns nothing for five or six years unless there is a plan of vegetable raising, when a return of $100 an acre is easily secured and the soil is benefited by the necessary cultivation. Unless such a system of cropping is established a nonbearing orchard is apt to be neglected, and this results in waste of time, investment and land.

The cultivation of vegetables or small fruit in an orchard is therefore for the purpose of securing immediate profits and keeping up the quality of the soil. It goes further than this, however, for it makes the land return a living income even in unfavorable fruit seasons, when late frosts, insect pests or other destructive agencies have spoiled the apples, pears, plums and cherries.

Apple and cherry trees should be planted thirty feet apart; plum, pear and peach trees twenty to twenty-five feet apart. The trees need to stand in straight rows to permit the free use of a horse cultivator in the vegetable and berry patches. One of the most common mistakes in farming is to plant trees too near together.

Nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium are necessary for the fertilization of fruit trees and plants in general. Nitrogen can be obtained in stable manure, but the principal source is air, and we may obtain it by growing legumes. Vegetable gardening carried on with the aid of barnyard manure is an excellent treatment for orchard land. Phosphorus may be obtained by the use of raw rock phosphate or bone-meal. Potassium is contained in large amounts in our ordinary soils in a more or less unavailable state. To get more potassium in such a shape that the plants can use it we can either apply soluble potassium salts or unlock that which is already present in abundance. Experiments have shown that it does not pay to apply potassium to ordinary soils, provided decaying organic matter in the form of manure or cover crops is worked into the soil. The decaying organic matter will liberate the potassium.

It may not be generally known that apples are about as hard on land as wheat or corn, except they do not take from it as much phosphorus. A 425 bushel apple crop will remove from the soil about the same amount of nitrogen and potassium and half as much phosphorus as fifty bushels of corn or twenty-five bushels of wheat. Therefore a thorough system of gardening not only makes the orchard land do double duty, but restores the soil fertility.

If for any reason gardening cannot be carried on in a thorough way in an orchard I should recommend legumes in place of manure as the source of nitrogenous organic matter. It is shown that a cheap way to grow legumes is to apply ground limestone and rock phosphate. The cost of this treatment would not exceed $2 per acre per year, which should not seriously interfere with this system of fertilization.

POTATO NOTES.

To secure an early supply of new potatoes next season plant the tubers of any good early variety in pots and start them in the house. Four or five inch pots can be used, filled only about two-thirds full of soil, leaving room for a top dressing of soil to be supplied as the plants grow, after the manner of hilling up potatoes when grown in the garden. One potato is sufficient for each pot.

Time the planting so the plants will be well started in the pots when they are to be transplanted in the garden at the time the tubers are usually planted outdoors.

If there is a well ventilated, cool, light place, such as a cold frame or cool greenhouse, in which to grow them potatoes can be raised in pots and full sized tubers developed very much earlier than the first crop from the garden.

Ten inch pots will be sufficiently large. Rub off all the eyes except the strongest for pot culture.

SENSATION AT GREENFIELD

Former Prosecuting Attorney Has Filed Suit Against Earl Sample, Judge of the Hancock Circuit Court, to Declare the Office of Judge Forfeited, Alleging Habitual Drunkenness on the Part of the Judge.

Greenfield, Ind., April 18.—John F. Wiggins of Fortville, former prosecuting attorney of Hancock county, as plaintiff, has filed suit against Earl Sample, judge of the Hancock circuit court, to declare the office of the judge of the eighteenth judicial district forfeited and vacant. The impeachment proceedings caused a sensation here, as Judge Sample comes from an old and prominent family of Hancock county.

The complaint charges that Judge Sample "now is, and has ever since qualifying, been in the habit of voluntarily becoming intoxicated by the use of intoxicating liquors during his continuance in said office and during the sessions of the said Hancock circuit court, thereby forfeiting his right to hold said office of judge." The plaintiff demands that the office be forfeited as to the defendant Earl Sample and declared vacant.

SHOT WIFE AND HIMSELF

Retired Farmer Living at Boonville Actuated by Jealousy.

Boonville, Ind., April 18.—Mrs. Mary Folsom, forty-two years old, lies dead at her home in the eastern part of Boonville with a bullet through her heart and her husband, William B. Folsom, fifty-four years old, a retired Warwick county farmer, is in jail charged with killing her. Folsom used an automatic pistol and after shooting his wife fired three bullets into his breast in an effort to end his own life.

Folsom was jealous of his wife and this is said to have been the cause of the shooting. His daughter, Florence, eleven years old, was the only witness of the killing. She testified that her father shoved her mother up against the stove, firing one shot into her back, and as Mrs. Folsom threw up her arm to protect herself, he fired a second bullet into her heart, causing instant death.

Florence ran to the home of a neighbor for help, but no one ventured into the home until the officers arrived, when Folsom was found in a precarious condition from his wounds.

At one time Folsom was one of Warwick county's wealthiest farmers, but dissipated much of his estate. It is believed that Folsom's mind has been weakened for some time, and it is known that he has been taking treatment from an Evansville specialist for some time for insanity. There are ten children in the Folsom family.

Kept Gruesome Secret.

Anderson, Ind., April 18.—The body of a man which was found in White river near this city has been identified as that of Paul Sledobrich, a Hungarian, of Johnstown, Pa. With his brother, Sledobrich was crossing a railroad bridge in this city, March 7, when they were overtaken by a train. Both men lay down on the bridge and one was knocked into the river and drowned. The brother was afraid to notify local authorities and withheld the information until he reached home recently.

May Select Putnamville.

Indianapolis, April 18.—The commission appointed by Governor Ralston to select a site for Indiana's new farm for short-term prisoners will not meet again until next Monday morning. Meanwhile the belief is growing that the site for the farm near Putnamville would be chosen eventually by the body.

His Mystic Wand Failed.

South Bend, Ind., April 18.—The advertised mystic wand of J. S. Cravens, a clairvoyant, failed to reveal a buried chest, said to have been promised to Mrs. Arminia Fletcher, and she has had Cravens arrested on a charge of grand larceny. Cravens charged the woman $30 to read her hand, the complaint says.

Scratched Vaccinated Arm.

Sullivan, Ind., April 18.—The Rev. P. C. Lisman, aged forty-eight, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city, is dead of blood poisoning. He is believed to have become poisoned by scratching a vaccinated arm and then rubbing his face. He had been in the ministry twenty years.

Burning Leads Cause Death.

Marion, Ind., April 18.—Mary Brewer, aged seventy-two, the wife of Jacob Brewer, a farmer, was burned to death near her home, three miles southwest of this city. Mrs. Brewer was raking leaves and burning them along the roadway when her clothing caught fire.

Woman Burned to Death.

Corydon, Ind., April 18.—While she was boiling a kettle of soap in her yard here the clothes of Mrs. Harriet Feller, aged seventy-five, caught fire, burning her so severely that she died.

BOY'S ARREST HAS CREATED SENSATION

Son of Big Manufacturer Is Charged With Murder.

Albany, April 18.—Charged with killing Frank J. Clute, an Albany chauffeur, on the night of April 1, 1913, Malcolm Gifford, Jr., the eighteen-year-old son of the vice president of the Gifford-Wood Manufacturing company, one of the largest industries in Hudson, and a senior at Williston academy, is under arrest here.

The Albany county grand jury indicted young Gifford yesterday. He was arrested last Tuesday night at Chatham as he was on his way back to school after spending the Easter holidays with his parents, who are leaders in Hudson society.

The county detectives who have been working on the case for a year in the face of a popular demand for action to find the slayer, say that Gifford, who was visiting at the home of Henry Boardman, a Troy lawyer, at the time of the murder, killed the chauffeur with the idea of selling his car and getting money to free him from financial troubles.

While Gifford was a prisoner in the Albany county penitentiary awaiting grand jury action, his family believed him to be at school. Mr. Gifford was not notified of his son's arrest until the indictment was returned yesterday afternoon. He immediately employed local lawyers and said he would come to Albany at once, at the same time expressing confidence in the boy's innocence and severely criticizing the authorities for their course.

VIOLATION OF INJUNCTION

Judge Dayton Sends Eight Striking Miners to Jail.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 18.—Judge A. G. Dayton, in the federal district court here, imposed jail sentences on eight striking miners of Colliers, W. Va., for violation of the injunction against interference with the employees of the West Virginia and Pittsburg Coal company. The men had been arrested after it was alleged, they had prevented a party of eighteen strike breakers, taken to the mines from Pittsburg, from going to work.

Washington, April 18.—Mayor McCarty has put the "lid" on poolrooms here, following the confession of several high school boys who robbed stores that poolrooms were the cause of their downfall.

"Elizabeth Marie Pitman."

"Your occupation?"

"I keep a boarding house at 42 Union street."

"You know the prisoner?"

"Yes. He was a boarder in my house."

"For how long?"

"From Dec. 1. He and his wife came at that time."

"Was his wife the actress, Jennie Brice?"

"Yes, sir."

"Were they living together at your house the night of March 4?"

"Yes, sir."

"In what part of the house?"

"They rented the double parlors downstairs, but on account of the flood I moved them upstairs to the second floor front."

"That was on Sunday? You moved them on Sunday?"

"Yes, sir."

"At what time did you retire that night?"

"Not at all. The water was very high. I lay down, dressed, at 1 o'clock and dropped into a doze."

"How long did you sleep?"

"An hour or so. Mr. Reynolds, a boarder, roused me to say he had heard some one rowing a boat in the lower hall."

"Do you keep a boat around during flood times?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did you do when Mr. Reynolds roused you?"

"I went to the top of the stairs. My boat was gone."

"Was the boat secured?"

"Yes, sir. Anyhow, there was no current in the hall."

"What did you do then?"

"I waited a time and went back to my room."

"What examination of the house did you make—if any?"

"Mr. Reynolds looked around."

"What did he find?"

"He found Peter, the Ladleys' dog, shut in a room on the third floor."

"Was there anything unusual about that?"

"I had never known it to happen before."

"State what happened later."

"I did not go to sleep again. At a quarter after 4 I heard the boat come back. I took a candle and went to the stairs. It was Mr. Ladley. He said he had been out getting medicine for his wife."

"Did you see him tie up the boat?"

"Yes."

"Did you observe any stains on the steps?"

"I did not notice any."

"What was the prisoner's manner at that time?"

"I thought he was surly."

"Now, Mrs. Pitman, tell us about the following morning."

"I saw Mr. Ladley at a quarter before 7. He said to bring breakfast for one. His wife had gone away. I asked if she was not ill, and he said no; that she had gone away early; that he had rowed her to Federal street, and that she would be back Saturday. It was shortly after that that the dog Peter brought in one of Mrs. Ladley's slippers, water soaked."

"You recognized the slipper?"

"Positively. I had seen it often."

"What did you do with it?"

"I took it to Mr. Ladley."

"What did he say?"

"He said at first that it was not hers. Then he said if it was she would never wear it again—and then added—because it was ruined."

"Did he offer any statement as to where his wife was?"

"No, sir; not at that time. Before he had said she had gone away for a few days."

"Tell the jury about the broken knife."

"The dog found it floating in the parlor with the blade broken."

"You had not left it downstairs?"

"No, sir. I had used it upstairs the night before and left it on a mantel of the room I was using as a temporary kitchen."

"Was the door of this room locked?"

"No. It was standing open."

"Were you not asleep in this room?"

"Yes."

"You heard no one come in?"

"No one—until Mr. Reynolds roused me."

"Where did you find the blade?"

"Behind the bed in Mr. Ladley's room."

"What else did you find in the room?"

"A blood stained towel behind the washstand; also my onyx clock was missing."

"Where was the clock when the Ladleys were moved up into this room?"

"On the mantel. I would it just before they came upstairs."

"When you saw Mrs. Ladley on Sunday did she say she was going away?"

"No, sir."

"Did you see any preparation for a journey?"

"The black and white dress was laid out on the bed and a small bag. She said she was taking the dress to the theater to lend to Miss Hope."

"Is that all she said?"

"No. She said she'd been wishing her husband would drown; that he was a fiend."

"I could see that my testimony had made an impression."

The slipper, the rope, the towel and the knife and blade were produced in court, and I identified them all. They made a noticeable impression on the jury. Then Mr. Llewellyn, the lawyer for the defense, cross examined me.

"Is it not true, Mrs. Pitman," he said, "that many articles, particularly shoes and slippers, are found floating around during a flood?"

"Yes," I admitted.

"Now, you say the dog found this slipper floating in the hall and brought it to you. Are you sure this slipper belonged to Jennie Brice?"

"She wore it. I presume it belonged to her."

"Ahem! Now, Mrs. Pitman, after the Ladleys had been moved to the upper floor, did you search their bedroom and the connecting room downstairs?"

"No, sir."

"Ah! Then how do you know that this slipper was not left on the floor or in a closet?"

"It is possible, but not likely. Anyhow, it was not the slipper alone. It was the other things and the slipper."

"Exactly. Now, Mrs. Pitman, this knife. Can you identify it positively?"

"I can."

"But isn't it true that this is a very common sort of knife? One that nearly every housewife has in her possession?"

"Yes, sir. But that knife handle has three notches in it. I put the notches there myself."

"Before this presumed crime?"

"Yes, sir."

"For what purpose?"

"My neighbors were constantly borrowing things. It was a means of identification."

"Then this knife is yours?"

"Yes."

"Tell again where you left it the night before it was found floating downstairs."

"On a shelf over the stove."

"Could the dog have reached it there?"

"Not without standing on a hot stove."

"Is it not possible that Mr. Ladley, unable to untie the boat, borrowed your knife to cut the boat's painter?"

"No painter was cut that I heard about. The paper hanger."

"No, no. The boat's painter—the rope."

"Oh! Well, he might have. He never said."

"Now, then, this towel, Mrs. Pitman. Did not the prisoner on the following day tell you that he had cut his wrist in freeing the boat and ask you for some court plaster?"

"He did not," I said firmly.

"You have not seen a scar on his wrist?"

"No."

"No," I glanced at Mr. Ladley. He was smiling as if amused. It made me angry. "And what's more," I flashed, "if he has a cut on his wrist, he put it there himself to account for the towel."

I was sorry the next morning that I had said it, but it was too late. The counsel for the defense moved to exclude the answer, and I received a caution that I deserved. Then:

"You saw Mr. Ladley when he brought your boat back?"

"Yes."

"What time was that?"

"A quarter after 4 Monday morning."

"Did he come in quietly, like a man trying to avoid attention?"

"Not particularly. It would have been of no use. The dog was barking."

"What did he say?"

"That he had been out for medicine. That his wife was sick."

"Do you know a pharmacist named Alexander—Jonathan Alexander?"

"There is such a one, but I don't know him."

I was excused, and Mr. Reynolds was called. He had heard no quarreling that Sunday night, had even heard Mrs. Ladley laughing. This was about 9 o'clock. Yes, they had fought in the afternoon. He had not overheard any words, but their voices were quarrelsome, and once he heard a chair or some article of furniture overturned. Was awakened about 2 by footsteps on the stairs, followed by the sound of oars in the lower hall. He told his story plainly and simply. Under cross examination admitted that he was fond of detective stories and had tried to write one himself; that he had said at the store that he would like to see that "concocted ass" swing, referring to the prisoner; that he had sent flowers to Jennie Brice at the theater, and had made a few advances to her, without success.

My head was going round. I don't know yet how the police learned it all, but by the time poor Mr. Reynolds left the stand half the people there believed that he had been in love with Jennie Brice, that she had spurred his advances, and that there was more to the story than any of them had suspected.

Miss Hope's story held without any alteration under the cross examination. She was perfectly at ease, looked handsome and well dressed, and could not be shaken. She told how Jennie Brice had been in fear of her life and had asked her, only the week before she disappeared, to allow her to go home with her—Miss Hope. She told of the attack of hysteria in her dressing room, and that the missing woman had said that her husband would kill her some day. There was much wrangling over her testimony, and I believe at least a part of it was not allowed to go to the jury. But I am not a lawyer, and I repeat what I recall.

"Did she say that he had attacked her?"

"Yes, more than once. She was a large woman, fairly muscular, and had always held her own."

"Did she say that these attacks came when he had been drinking?"

"I believe he was worse then."

"Did she give any reason for her husband's attitude to her?"

"She said he wanted to marry an other woman."

There was a small sensation at this. It proved it established a motive.

"Did she know who the other woman was?"

"I believe not. She was away most of the day, and he put in his time as he liked."

"Did Miss Brice ever mention the nature of the threats he made against her?"

"No, I think not."

"Have you examined the body washed ashore at Sewickley?"

"Yes—in a low voice."

"Is it the body of Jennie Brice?"

"I cannot say."

"Does the remaining hand look like the hand of Jennie Brice?"

"Very much. The nails are filed to points, as she wore hers."

"Did you ever know of Jennie Brice having a scar on her breast?"

"No, but that would be easily concealed."

"Just what do you mean?"

"Many actresses conceal defects. She could have worn flesh colored plaster and covered it with powder. Also, such a scar would not necessarily be seen."

"Explain that."

"Most of Jennie Brice's décolleté gowns were cut to a point. This would conceal such a scar."

Miss Hope was excused, and Jennie Brice's sister from Olean was called. She was a smaller woman than Jennie Brice had been, very ladylike in her manner. She said she was married and living in Olean; she had not seen her sister for several years, but had heard from her often. The witness had discouraged the marriage to the prisoner.

"Why?"

"She had had bad luck before."

"She had been married before?"

"Yes, to a man named John Bellows. They were in vaudeville together on the Keith circuit. They were known as 'The Pair of Pillows.'"

I sat up at this, for John Bellows had boarded at my house.

"Mr. Bellows is dead?"

"I think not. She divorced him."

"Did you know of any scar on your sister's body?"

"I never heard of one."

"Have you seen the body found at Sewickley?"

"Yes," faintly.

"Can you identify it?"

"No, sir."

A flurry was caused during the afternoon by Timothy Senft. He testified to what I already knew—that between 3 and 4 on Monday morning, during the height of the flood, he had seen from his shanty boat a small skiff caught in the current near the Ninth street bridge. He had shouted encouragingly to the man in the boat, running out a way on the ice to make him bear. He had told him to row with the current and to try to steer in toward shore. He had followed close to the river bank in his own boat. Below Sixth street the other boat was within rope throwing distance. He had pulled it in and had towed it well back out of the current. The man in the boat was the prisoner. Asked if the prisoner gave any explanation—yes, he said he couldn't sleep and had thought to tire himself rowing. "Had been caught in the current before he knew it. Saw nothing suspicious in or about the boat. As they passed the police patrol boat prisoner had called to ask if there was much distress and expressed regret when told there was."

Tim was excused. He had made a profound impression. I would not have given a dollar for Mr. Ladley's chance with the jury at that time.

LEO M. FRANK

Given Respite From Gallows by Court at Last Moment.

Atlanta, Ga., April 17.—Execution of Leo M. Frank, the young factory superintendent sentenced to hang today for the murder of fourteen-year-old Mary Phagan, has been stayed. Attorneys filed two motions in an effort to save the life of the defendant. One asks the annulment of the verdict on the ground that the trial judge erred in allowing Frank to be absent from the courtroom when the verdict was announced. The other asks for a new trial on the claim of newly discovered evidence. Arguments on both motions will be heard April 22. This action of the court automatically stays the hanging of Frank until final action is taken on the two motions.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ON THE SIDE LINES.

THE DESPONDENT DOG.

A. A. Barker, of this city, circulation manager for an Indianapolis paper, was in Washington a few days ago and relates a story of how a dog was killed under the wheels of a street car and of the heated discussion among several citizens as to how such an accident could happen.
Barker excused his visit to Washington by saying that he did not go from choice but that business took him there.

A number of citizens saw the dog killed and were trying to fathom out the mystery as to how a Washington street car could be running fast enough to collide with a dog. Several citizens who took part in the discussion asserted that the dog must have been standing still while others thought that the unfortunate canine was blind and deaf and could neither hear or see the approaching car.
The mystery was cleared up, however, when a number of eye witnesses on the opposite side of the street gave positive testimony that the dog evidently desired to commit suicide as he ran down the track directly towards the approaching car. It was found that the dog escaped from Vincennes a few days before and had become despondent as he was unable to return home.

LOOKING FOR THE LEAK.

A well known business man changed his place of residence a short time ago and a few days after he was well settled in his new home there came a heavy rain and his wife complained that there must be a bad leak in the roof as the water was pouring into the second story in streams. He asked a repair man to give attention to the supposed leak and after several workmen had spent about $10 in time in searching for defective places in the roof, they descended wearing broad smiles. When asked if they had found the leak they replied that they had placed the cover over the scuttle opening in the roof and did not think there would be any further trouble. The next day the bill was submitted which was paid under protest.

"UNRESPONSIVE" WAS HUERTA'S REPLY TO U. S.

in Virginia overlooking Arlington, will put in action America's war fleet.

Every Mexican port on both oceans will be blockaded. It is not expected there will be any bombardment. These ports, with the exception of Tampico and Vera Cruz, are unfortified. Under international law, they can not be bombarded. But they can be occupied by bluejackets and marines.

Until the very moment that the President puts the entire situation up to the congress, Huerta will have opportunity to back down. The United States is pledged to accept a formal national salute as ample apology and to reply to that salute. If the salute is not fired before the congress takes a hand, it is almost certain that a definite resolution will be adopted, instructing the President not to rely to it.

The question of a reply has stirred many officials of the government.
They insist that because Rear-Admiral Mayo originally offered to reply to it, we are bound by that promise, but only until our war fleet is assembled in Mexican waters. They say the situation will have changed and we will be in the position of having been compelled to enforce a demand.

Care of Trees

Millions of trees die yearly from insect pests, scale and improper trimming; takes lifetime to grow a tree. Your trees on the lawn need care. Your orchards, if you want fruit, should be looked after; scientific treatment is necessary. We will be ready to do spraying on trees and shrubs.

We also handle roses, shrubs,
ornamental and fruit trees,
lawn seed and lawn fertilizer.
Our 100 gallon power spray will be here in a few days and will then be ready to do your spraying.

Hairbreadth Harry—Belinda Is Safe, Hurrah!

RUDOLPH GOT AWAY WITH THAT POISONED NEEDLE STUNT SO WELL THAT HE HAS PUT A RANGE OF MOUNTAINS BETWEEN HIMSELF AND OUR HERO. NOW HE IS IN SNUG POSSESSION OF THE YOUNG NEAR-BRIDE.

BUT HERE'S A FRESH COMPLICATION! WHAT GOOD IS A LOVELY YOUNG BRIDE TO A MAN IF SHE'S IN A TRANCE AND CAN'T BE REVIVED? IT LOOKS AS IF THAT RUFFIAN HAD OVERREACHED HIMSELF THIS TIME.

BUT THERE'S NOTHING LIKE A GOOD SOUSE OF COLD WATER ONE OUT OF THE SHADOWY REALMS AND RUDOLPH—WHAT'S THIS? BELINDA SEEMS TO HAVE SUDDENLY CO

LIKE A FLASH THE DREADFUL SITUATION OOOZED INTO THE LUCKLESS LADY'S BUN! AND WITH THE AGILITY OF A CAT SHE SCRAMBLED UP THE COCONUT TREE!

HAW! HAW! THAT'S ONE ON YOU, OLD TOP! BETTER DUMP THAT HATFUL OF WATER ON YOUR OWN FIERY HEAD TO PREVENT GETTING TOO HOT HEADED.

SUDDENLY A CORKING BIG COCONUT CRACKED RUDOLPH ON THE COCO!!!

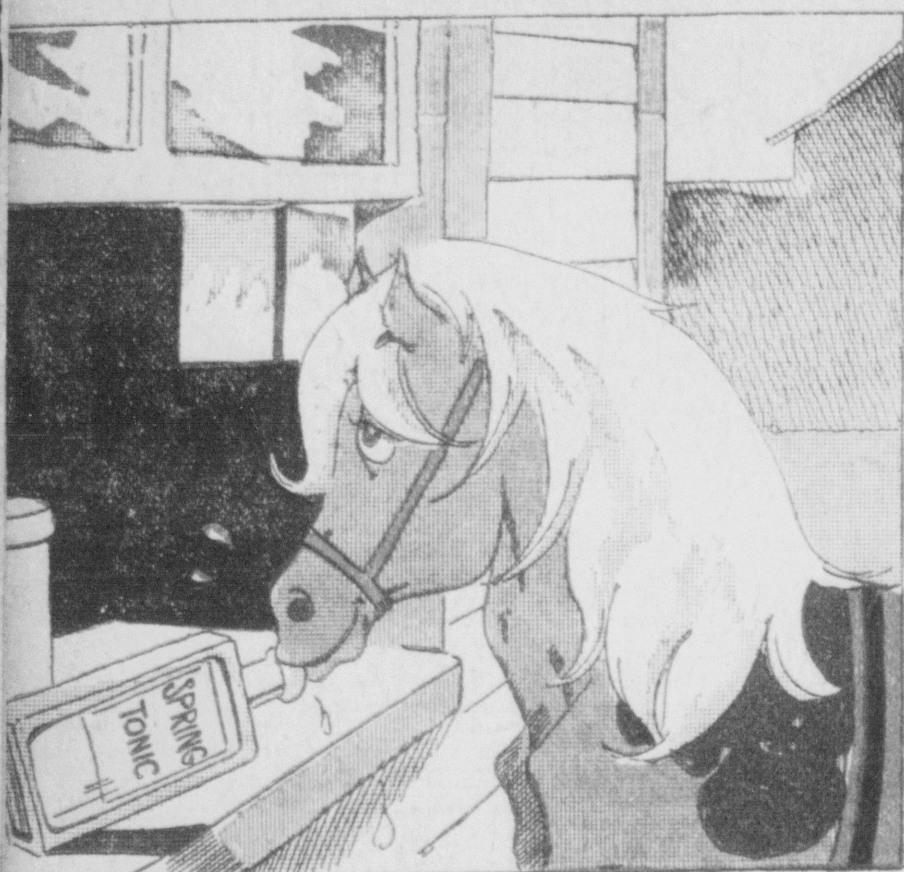

NOW IT'S THE VILLAIN'S TURN TO BE UN FOR THE PRESENT BELINDA IS SAFE! H WONT KNOW UNTIL NEXT WEEK WHETHER

ANNA BELLE Sees Grandpa's Chickens

Dear Friends -Grandpa invited us over to see his new chickens and chicken yard the other day, and you may know how we enjoyed this treat. Grandpa has such fine chickens, and what do you think-he has a rooster alone which he says is worth $100. My, my one hundred dollars for one rooster! But Grandpa says he's worth more than that to him.

So many good letters are coming now and I'm so glad to get such good reports from SEWING SOCIETY work. If you haven't organized one why not write me now and get Certificates of Membership for yourself and the future members. Address me care this paper, enclosing a two-cent stamp for postage and I'll be so glad to send as many as you wish. I'm sure you will find great enjoyment in the great work we are doing for the poor and the Certificate of Membership will show you how to organize this great Society of good boys and girls which is becoming a household word of good deeds. Write today so you won't have to wait for your Certificates Lovingly,

Anna Belle

WHAT IS MRS. FIDO SAYING TO MR. FIDO?

Cut out the section below from (A) to (B) to (C) to (D) and then cut out the four triangles on the dotted lines. Now place the triangles in their correct places and you'll find out what Mrs. Fido is saying. From her looks you'll find she evidently means what she says, too!
